

EnEf project takes first steps

Scritto da ILI

Domenica 10 Aprile 2011 22:26 - Ultimo aggiornamento Venerdì 15 Aprile 2011 12:00

There are no translations available.

In November 2010 the project EnEf has been launched. EnEf stands for 'Energy Efficiency in the Building Sector: a Sustainable Future', is a transnational project funded by the Lifelong Learning Programme of the European Commission. EnEf is aiming at creating training contents and operational tools to improve energy efficiency in buildings. Primary target group are owners and managers of SMEs of the European construction sector. The consortium is composed of eight organisations from Bulgaria, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Slovakia and Spain. In January 2011 the Kick-off Meeting took place in Milan with the aim to plan in detail the activities foreseen during the next two years.

